ARTHUR GELB COLLEGE-TO-SCHOOL REPORT

Introduction

This is the third year of the Board of Higher Education's Arthur Gelb College-to-School Report, a system-wide initiative to provide high schools and colleges with information on the performance of Massachusetts high school graduates enrolled in Massachusetts public postsecondary institutions. The report, named after a former Board member who promoted the idea of college to school reporting, is designed to help improve communication between public colleges and high schools in Massachusetts by providing several indicators of how students perform and persist in college.

The Gelb Report provides administrators and faculty in both high schools and colleges with data on the performance of high school graduates after their first year of enrollment at a public higher education institution. The report contains useful information on the number of 1996 high school graduates who required remedial course work in English (writing and/or reading) or math, the percentage of students enrolled in remedial courses, the percentage of students enrolled in remedial courses who returned in Fall 1997, the overall return rate of students, and the average number of credits earned by returning students in the first year.

We recommend that the information in this report not be used to compare high schools with each other due to the small number of students from some high schools, and the fact that the report does not include those students who attended out-of-state institutions and private institutions. In addition, the database currently does not contain students' high school grade point averages (GPA). Without this information, we cannot determine whether weaker performing students from some high schools are being compared with stronger performing students from another.

The Gelb Report is based on data submitted by all 28 Massachusetts public higher education institutions, with a total enrollment of 25,540 freshmen in the fall of 1996. Approximately 13,490 students (or 53%) graduated from a Massachusetts high school in June 1996. This report is based on the performance of these students.

The first year of the Gelb Report was a pilot year and all public higher education institutions did not participate in the study. However, all public higher education institutions participated in the second and third years. Comparisons are restricted to information contained in the latter two years.

Report Overview

This three-part report includes the following data, compiled by institution and aggregated by segment, for those students who graduated from Massachusetts high schools in June 1996 and enrolled as freshmen in 28 Massachusetts community colleges, state colleges and UMASS in the Fall 1996 semester:

- number of full-time students (taking 12 or more credits) enrolled as freshmen in Fall 1996
- number and percent of those students who returned in Fall 1997
- number and percent of students enrolled in remedial English and mathematics courses in Fall 1996
- percent of remedial students who returned in Fall 1997
- average number and range of credits earned by returning students
- average and range of first year grade point average (GPA) earned by returning students

Part I, "Segment Summaries," is a system-wide summary that provides aggregate numbers and percentages of full-time students enrolled in remedial English and Math courses. It also provides the average and range of student GPA's and credits earned by returning students in each higher education institution and segment (university, state colleges, and community colleges).

Part II, "Summary of 1996 High School Graduates' Performance in Massachusetts Public Higher Education," shows how 1996 high school graduates performed in their first year of enrollment at Massachusetts public higher education institutions. Data are reported only for high schools that had five or more students who returned in Fall 1997 to a university, state college, or community college campus.

Part III, "College to College Report," examines those full-time freshmen students who transferred from one MA public higher education institution to another some time between Fall 1996 and Fall 1997. The report does not track transfers to out-of-state or private institutions, and therefore should be viewed as only partial data.

The first step in the process of creating a business plan is to conduct a market research.

Market research is the process of gathering information about the market in which a business operates. This information can be used to identify opportunities and threats, and to develop a business plan that is tailored to the market.

Conclusion

The purpose of this report is to provide a comprehensive overview of the market research process. It will discuss the importance of market research, the different types of market research, and the steps involved in conducting market research.

Market research is a critical component of the business planning process. It provides valuable information that can be used to make informed decisions about the future of a business. By conducting market research, businesses can identify opportunities and threats, and develop a business plan that is tailored to the market.

Highlights Regarding Student Performance at the University

- Approximately 11 percent of the full-time University students in the report were enrolled in a remedial English course and 8 percent were enrolled in a remedial math course in Fall 1996. In Fall 1995, 10 percent were enrolled in remedial English and 15 percent in remedial math.
- Of the University students enrolled in remedial courses, 74 percent of the students in English remedial courses returned to the same institution in Fall 1997, and 72 percent of the students in remedial math courses returned in 1997. The overall return rate for students in the Fall 1996 University cohort was 78 percent. In Fall 1995, 72 percent of the students in English remedial courses returned in Fall 1996, and 74 percent of the students in math remedial courses returned in 1996. The overall return rate for students in the Fall 1995 University cohort was 77 percent.
- Returning full-time University students in this report earned an average 2.6 grade point average (GPA). The Fall 1995 returning University cohort earned an average 2.5 GPA by Fall 1996.
- Returning University students in the report earned an average 27.2 accumulated credits by Fall 1997. The Fall 1995 returning University cohort earned an average 26.6 accumulated credits by Fall 1996.
- Of the University students in this report who did not return in Fall 1997, 8 percent transferred to another UMass institution, 7 percent transferred to a Massachusetts state college, and 18 percent transferred to a Massachusetts community college. Of the Fall 1995 cohort of University students who did not return in Fall 1996, 8 percent transferred to another UMASS institution, 10 percent transferred to a state college, and 19 percent transferred to a community college.

Highlights Regarding Student Performance at the State Colleges

- Approximately 11 percent of the full-time state college students in the report were enrolled in a remedial English course and 13 percent were enrolled in a remedial math course in Fall 1996. In Fall 1995, 12 percent were enrolled in remedial English and 14 percent in remedial math.
- Of the state college students enrolled in remedial courses, 70 percent of the students in English remedial courses returned to the same institution in Fall 1997, and 67 percent of the students in remedial math courses returned in 1997. The overall return rate for students in the Fall 1996 state college cohort was 71 percent. In Fall 1995, 63 percent of the students in English remedial courses returned in Fall 1996, and 67 percent of the students in math remedial courses returned in 1996. The overall return rate for students in the Fall 1995 state college cohort was 69 percent.
- Returning full-time state college students in this report earned an average 2.4 grade point average (GPA). The Fall 1995 returning state college cohort also earned an average 2.4 GPA by Fall 1996.
- Returning state college students in the report earned an average 28.0 accumulated credits by Fall 1997. The Fall 1995 returning state college cohort earned an average 26.8 accumulated credits by Fall 1996.
- Of the state college students in this report who did not return in Fall 1997, 6 percent transferred to a UMass institution, 7 percent transferred to another Massachusetts state college, and 24 percent transferred to a Massachusetts community college. Of the Fall 1995 cohort of state college students who did not return in Fall 1996, 5 percent transferred to a UMASS institution, 7 percent transferred to another state college, and 23 percent transferred to a community college.

Highlights Regarding Student Performance at the Community Colleges

- Approximately 37 percent of the full-time community college students in the report were enrolled in a remedial English course and 39 percent were enrolled in a remedial math course in Fall 1996. In Fall 1995, 37 percent were enrolled in remedial English and 41 percent in remedial math.
- Of the community college students enrolled in remedial courses, 54 percent of the students in English remedial courses returned to the same institution in Fall 1997, and 54 percent of the students in remedial math courses returned in 1997. The overall return rate for students in the Fall 1996 community college cohort was 56 percent. In Fall 1995, 55 percent of the students in English remedial courses returned in Fall 1996, and 52 percent of the students in math remedial courses returned in 1996. The overall return rate for students in the Fall 1995 community college cohort was also 56 percent.
- Returning full-time community college students in this report earned an average 2.3 grade point average (GPA). The Fall 1995 returning community college cohort earned an average 2.4 GPA by Fall 1996.
- Returning community college students in the report earned an average 19.5 accumulated credits by Fall 1997. The Fall 1995 returning community college cohort earned an average 22.4 accumulated credits by Fall 1996.
- Of the community college students in this report who did not return in Fall 1997, 4 percent transferred to a UMass institution, 5 percent transferred to a Massachusetts state college, and 4 percent transferred to another Massachusetts community college. Of the Fall 1995 cohort of community college students who did not return in Fall 1996, 4 percent transferred to a UMass institution, 6 percent transferred to a state college, and 4 percent transferred to another community college.

Future Plans

Next year's report will provide information about 1997 high school graduates entering public higher education in Fall 1997 and their performance through Fall 1998. Beginning with the 1997 high school graduates, the Gelb Report will be able to compare a student's high school and college GPA at four-year institutions.

College-to-School reporting is designed to promote discussion about the academic performance and persistence of Massachusetts high school graduates in public higher education. Future reports will be refined over the course of the next year as reactions from high schools and campuses are received. Ultimately, increased direct communication between college and high school faculty should clarify the relationship between the learning gained in high school and success in college, and lead to improved student academic preparation and performance.

NOTES: The grade point averages (GPA) reported are based on a 4.0 scale, where "A" = 4.0, "B" = 3.0, "C" = 2.0 and "D" = 1.0.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system. Massachusetts College of Art uses pass/fail system for evaluation.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

** TOTAL freshmen includes students who are not Massachusetts residents.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

* Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.

NOTE: To protect student confidentiality, information is only reported for a high school when five (5) or more students at the university, state college or community college level returned in Fall 1997. Each high school listed on this summary will receive an individual high school performance report containing more detailed information.

Students are placed in remedial courses based upon the results of a placement test; these tests are not uniform across the system.

Returning student numbers also reflect those students who transferred to another MA public higher education institution or left the institution after completing a certificate.
